

Registration English course in Erasmus + Program:

Dates: 12.04, 19.04, 26.04, 03.05, 10.05, 17.05, 24.05, 31.05, 07.06, 14.06 2023, resp. 6.00 – 7.30 pm

Fields marked with * are mandatory

First name*:

Last name*:

Title:

Affiliation/Organisation:

Address:

.....

Mobile number:

E-mail address*:

Participation in the Baltic Valuation Conference intended?: YES NO

Presence online

The participation in the English course is not connected to the participation in the BVC.

Detailed information see next page

English for Property Valuers

The need to improve professional English results from the changes in the property market and the increasing international interest in the valuation field.

Thus, the use of English is seen as a necessary skill. The project aims to improve the language skills of property valuers and break down the communication barriers in English.

The English course in Germany is designed to introduce German property valuers to the terminology currently being used in real estate appraisal reports (Value by Income Approach, Sales Comparison Approach, Cost Approach). The goal is to provide a working vocabulary of the various segments of a report (incl. subject property description, market analysis, land registry, KPIs etc.). As the class is open to speakers of all levels, the content will be specialized depending on the number of participants and their levels –if needed, the course can be divided into two 5-week blocks of different levels. It is imperative that all participants attend the first class.

Teacher:

Jason Nye is an American who has been working as a translator in Germany since 1998 and has been teaching business English in the financial sector since 2002. He has given classes on appraisal English for various companies including i.a. Nord/LB, Deutsche Hypo, and Simon & Reinhold, Partner. His list of clients as a translator includes: Nord/LB, Nexus, Andersch AG, Simon & Reinhold, Partner, RFS Kabel, Kenzo i.a.

Take the opportunity and brush up your English.